Post-doctoral Fellow in Quantitative Studies of Gender and Political Representation
School of Social Sciences, Singapore Management University

The School of Social Sciences at the Singapore Management University is seeking applications immediately for a postdoctoral research position in Quantitative Studies of Gender and Political Representation that runs 6 months from October 1, 2016 to March 31, 2017 with possible extension subject to funding availability.

Job Description

The postdoctoral position will largely entail collaborating on an on-going database project on women’s parliamentary representation worldwide. Duties include database management, interpretation/translation, theoretical analysis, content analysis, data analysis, conducting interviews and focus groups, and writing.

Qualifications

Applicants must have a PhD by April, 2016. Applicants must have experience and academic publications on women’s political representation and possess a Ph.D. degree in political science, sociology, or women’s studies. Applicants who are fluent in English, have experience managing datasets, and speak three or more languages are preferred. Applicants are also expected to have experience with researching, writing and publishing academic research papers.

Remuneration

Singapore dollars 4,000 to Singapore dollars 4,400 per month (exchange rate US$1 = S$1.362).

How to Apply

Please email the following items, no later than April 15, 2016, to socialsciencescv@smu.edu.sg

1) Cover letter describing your research interests, interest in the position, and relevant skills
2) Curriculum Vitae
3) The names and email addresses of two referees. Shortlisted candidates will be asked to provide recommendation letters.
4) Writing sample (a published paper or manuscript)

Only shortlisted candidates will be notified.

Other Useful Information

More information can be found at the following URLs:
Singapore Management University: http://www.smu.edu.sg/
School of Social Sciences: http://socsc.smu.edu.sg/
Supervising Faculty Profile: http://socsc.smu.edu.sg/faculty/profile/130376/JOSHI,-Devin
About Living in Singapore: http://www.livinginsingapore.org/